Prairie Quest supports Hoosier Veterans Assistance Foundation with holiday goodwill

Indianapolis, IN – Prairie Quest personnel donated their time, money, and gently used clothing to the Hoosier Veterans Assistance Foundation (HVAF) to help veterans during this holiday season.

On December 23rd, 2009, Prairie Quest team members working in conjunction with the Indiana National Guard served lunch to numerous veterans and delivered 23 stockings to homeless veterans who participate in HVAF’s REST program. Further donations came from across the Prairie Quest team’s closets and wallets.

The REST (Residential, Employment, and Substance Abuse Treatment) program’s main focus is provide homeless veterans with housing while they maintain sobriety and seek employment and permanent housing. In short, both the REST and HVAF programs are strongly driven by the goal of helping veterans get back on their feet—at no cost to the veteran. Subsequently, donations of time, money, and wish-list items are crucial to the program and its beneficiaries.

"Our veterans have given us so much; this was the least we could do to give a little back," said President and CEO of Prairie Quest Stacey Smith. "PQC supports the mantra of giving back to the community, and the HVAF is a terrific outlet for that."
